

NAVY, CHARTREUSE AND CREAM

unite nautical with natural at this wedding in the quaint Cape Cod town of Chatham photographed by Krista Photography

BOTH THE BRIDE AND GROOM

grew up vacationing on the Cape with their families and continued visiting there as a couple. "It was an easy decision to have our wedding in Chatham," reminisced Lori. "We love walking down Main Street, nights at The Squire, and heading to the beach. We both wanted our guests to share in that experience." Set on a private estate overlooking the water, the trees and bushes surrounding the property were full of new, green spring buds. Karen Taddei, owner of Lilacs, skillfully took colors and elements from the natural setting and infused them into the floral bouquets and décor. Taddei created a classically elegant bouquet of lily of the valley for the bride, and designed gorgeous white and green bouquets for the bridesmaids that contrasted against their navy dresses. In the tent, weathered urns overflowing with lush white florals and green textural elements, along with eclectic moss-filled terrariums graced the long, wooden head table in the tent and created a stunning display. Touches of navy complemented the natural florals and brought a nautical feel to this glorious Cape Cod day.

featured VENDORS

floral and décor
Lilacs

tents
Sperry Tents

linens and wooden tables
Be Our Guest

bridesmaid dresses
Bella Bridesmaids Westport

accommodations
Chatham Bars Inn

See resources for additional vendors.

EMERALD GREEN, AMETHYST AND CREAM

came together to accentuate the organic beauty of Bess and Jordan's farm venue photographed by Kate Murphy Lowenstein

THE BRIDE AND GROOM

found color inspiration from an unlikely source, a scallion plant. "The rich green, ivory base, and the bright purple pop at the top of the scallions my Mom grows explode with color," Bess described. "The colors fit our eco-friendly theme and complemented the natural colors of summer." Sitting in the middle of an expansive field was a graceful Sperry tent with wooden farm tables lined with hundreds of glass candleholders, organic plants, terrariums, succulents, lavender, and herbs, all contributing to the warm feel within the tent. Bess and Jordan kept the wedding "green," according to their wedding planner, Jennifer Chagnon, of The Pink Polka Dot. "Sometimes couples try to transform the farm," explained Chagnon. "But they embraced the beauty of its landscape, colors, and overall rustic feel perfectly!"

featured VENDORS

- event planning and design*
The Pink Polka Dot
 - rentals (farm tables, chairs and bars)*
New England Country Rentals
 - rentals (linens, china, glassware and flatware)*
Rentals Unlimited
 - tent*
Sperry Tents
 - lighting*
Ormonde Productions
- See resources for additional vendors.

